

Lecture Recital

Life and Times of Pancho Vladigerov

Composer in a Racial No Man's Land

Dimiter Terziev, piano

Sunday, Oct. 29th

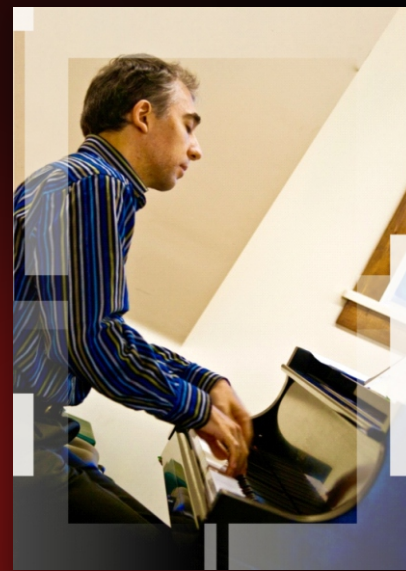

4:00 pm

Woodroffe United Church
207 Woodroffe Ave., Ottawa

Tickets: $15 general, $10 students/seniors

Available at the door or online at <http://bgottawa-gatineau.ca/>

For more information, contact bulgariancommunity@yahoo.ca.

Pancho Vladigerov (1899-1978) is the most celebrated Bulgarian composer of all times. He was of Bulgarian and Jewish descent and spent two decades of his life in Germany.

The lecture-recital focuses on Vladigerov's life and music and explores the contradictory and complex policy regarding "mischlinge" - people of mixed origin in Germany and its wayward ally Bulgaria during the Nazi era.

Terziev also performs twelve of Vladigerov's pieces and outlines the composer's various influences and stylistic evolution. The event provides a great opportunity for those interested in discovering beautiful music by lesser-known composers and those interested in 20th-century history. Terziev's performance of Vladigerov's pieces was rated Four Stars by CBC's Sound Advice and La Scena Musicale magazine.